Day 1: Finding Nemo – A Picture of a God Who Finds Us

Marlin crossed oceans, faced sharks, and braved the deep—not because Nemo was doing everything right, but because Nemo was his.

Marlin's relentless search gives us a small picture of the heart Jesus describes in Luke 15—the Shepherd who goes after the one who is lost. Jesus doesn't wait for us to clean ourselves up before coming near. He meets us in our lostness and calls us home.

Day 1: Finding Nemo – A Picture of a God Who Finds Us

Suppose one of you has a hundred sheep and loses one of them. Doesn't he leave the ninety-nine in the open country and go after the lost sheep until he finds it?— Luke 15:4

You are not hidden from God. No matter how far away you feel, His pursuit of you is personal, relentless, and filled with grace.

Gospel Truths in Animated Movies

Day 2: Kung Fu Panda – Adopted into Love

Mr. Ping wasn't Po's biological father, yet he loved, fed, and claimed Po unconditionally. When Po's past surfaced, Mr. Ping's love stayed steady.

Po's story gives us a glimpse of what unconditional belonging can feel like. Scripture takes that truth much deeper: through Jesus, God adopts us into His family.

Day 2: Kung Fu Panda – Adopted into Love

You received the Spirit of adoption by whom we cry, 'Abba, Father!'
— Romans 8:15

Whatever your experience of earthly family has been, Scripture gives you this assurance: in Christ, you are welcomed into the family of God.

Day 3: Despicable Me 4 – A Love That Points Us to the Cross

Gru's willingness to endure pain rather than abandon his son gives us a small glimpse of sacrificial love. But the Gospel takes sacrificial love infinitely further.

While we were still trapped in rebellion and sin, Jesus laid down His life on the cross to save us. He absorbed the cost of our mistakes to give us grace.

Day 3: Despicable Me 4 – A Love That Points Us to the Cross

But God demonstrates His own love toward us, in that while we were still sinners, Christ died for us.

— Romans 5:8

You don't have to earn your way back to God. His love endured the cross to bring you home.

Day 4: Beauty and the Beast – A Picture of Love That Transforms

Belle didn't love the Beast after he became handsome and gentle. She entered his broken world and loved him while he was still monstrous.

The story of Beauty and the Beast gives us a picture of love reaching someone in the middle of his brokenness rather than waiting for everything to be beautiful first. That can remind us of a much greater truth: God's love meets us in our brokenness—but His grace doesn't leave us there.

— 2 Corinthians 5:17

Grace doesn't leave you where it found you. It changes your heart completely.

Day 5: Encanto – Freedom from Performance

In Encanto, Luisa crushed herself under heavy pressure, while Isabela felt forced to be perfect. Both were exhausted from earning their worth.

Encanto gives us a powerful picture of what happens when our identity becomes tied to what we can carry, achieve, or produce. Jesus offers us a different way: our worth is received as a gift, not earned through performance.

Day 5: Encanto – Freedom from Performance

Come to Me, all you who labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest.
— Matthew 11:28

You are loved for who you are in Christ, not for what you produce. Take a breath and rest today.

Day 6: Tangled – Stepping Into the Light

Rapunzel spent years hidden in a tower, believing lies that the outside world was too dangerous. But stepping into the light revealed who she really was—a royal princess.

Rapunzel's story gives us a picture of what it can look like to live under fear and deception. Scripture tells us that Jesus calls us out of darkness and into His marvelous light—and into the freedom of knowing who we are in Him.

Day 7: Moana – Called for Something Bigger

Moana was safe behind the reef, but her island needed her to sail into the unknown to restore life. She had to trust the call on her heart.

Moana's journey gives us a picture of what it can look like to step beyond safety when something greater calls us forward. For followers of Jesus, our ultimate calling isn't simply to follow our feelings—it is to follow Christ and walk in the good works He has prepared for us.

Day 7: Moana – Called for Something Bigger

For we are His workmanship, created in Christ Jesus for good works, which God prepared beforehand that we should walk in them.

— Ephesians 2:10

Don't let comfort keep you from obedience. Ask God where He is calling you to trust Him—and take the next step in faith.
